Mr. G. Liesener's famous Can Rink which went through last season's winter without a hitch, was the recipient of a rather bad triumph on Monday afternoon at the hands of an Acme rink. The game was played at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the ice was very heavy, the Acme rink was going strong however and won by a score of 21 to 0. When the Tolson Can comes back to its original owners, but not too long, as a challenge has already been sent in for a game to be played by the 22nd.

Britain, U. S., France & Japan Sign Treaty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Great Britain, Japan, the United States and France, all have agreed in principle to the four-power treaty, which will be a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, the conditions of which will be announced at a plenary session of the arms conference this morning at 11 o'clock.

The treaty is being revealed in direct terms for acceptance of the alliance and for a "binding off" agreement should not be an offering over-questions of the Pacific Islands. The details yet to be settled are said to involve only minor considerations.

It is the expectation of some of the delegates that the coming plenary session will also see a preliminary announced agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan on the 5:5:3 naval ratio. Japan has not yet assented to it, but her cabinet is sitting in Tokyo with an apparent prospect of favorable action.

Nations Come to Terms on Four-Power Points

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—According to one view expressed last night, today's plenary session of the arms conference will decide these things.

That Great Britain and Japan have mutually agreed to scrap the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

That Great Britain, Japan, France and the United States have agreed upon a treaty providing for the arbitration of disputes arising out of Pacific questions outside matters relating to China.

That the United States has decided to scrap the proposed 5:5:3 naval ratio for nations at sea in the Pacific Islands.

That Japan has agreed to accept the naval ratio as stated in the United States proposals.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The new four-power treaty to preserve peace in the Pacific was formally signed today by the plenipotentiaries of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan. The signatures were affixed in the office of the secretary of state. There was no formal ceremony and no one was present except the plenipotentiaries, their secretaries and advisers.

Hockey This Season a Likelihood

A meeting of Hockey enthusiasts was held in Crossfield on Friday evening at the 30th inst. Delegates from Old, Didsbury and Crossfield were in attendance. Messrs. C. H. Roloff and Cecil Kilder attended as Didsbury representatives. A southern section of the Rosedale League was formed and a schedule drawn up including the three towns. Since this meeting however, Lacombe, Inverell and Red Deer have withdrawn from the northern section, thus breaking things all up again. Carstairs are held being the seat of the trouble. This will necessitate another meeting of the league.

As far as the Old, Didsbury and Crossfield teams are concerned, as the team is particularly strong and most friendly competition is, two equally matched teams are eagerly anticipated.

Once In a Lifetime

It was a pitiful mistake, an error and a gain. I waited for the railway train, the light was low and dim. It came at last, and from a carriage stepped a dainty dame, one looking up and down the place she straight into my eyes. "Oh, Jack!" she cried. "Oh, fate of Jack!" and kissed me on the cheek. I then looked down and frightened cried, "Oh, what a bad mistake!"

said, "Forgive me, maiden fair, for I am not your Jack, and as regards the kiss you gave me, I'll straight away give it back." And since that night I've often stood upon the platform since but only once in a man's whole life do such things come to him.

If the boss wants a thing done, it generally simplifies matters a lot to let him have his own way.

Canada's Opportunity

Feelings of unrest and the state of depression which have prevailed in Canada are but a reflex of similar conditions throughout the world, and the cause can be attributed very largely and directly to conditions brought about by the Great War. Only through a general improvement in world conditions can a permanent betterment be effected, but in the bringing about of that general world improvement each nation has a part to play. In addition, each nation must assiduously set to work to overcome existing difficulties and find a solution for present problems as they are found to exist in each particular country.

The conference on the limitation of armaments at Washington is one important step towards bringing about what cannot fail to be a vital factor in reducing the burden now imposed on the economic structure of the world, and in lowering the tremendous load of taxation levied on all peoples. Aside from the enormous reductions to be effected in war expenditures, the agreement for limitation of armaments, which now seems assured, will have an even more beneficial effect because the result must be to greatly reduce the danger of war in the future, thereby giving confidence and stability to world finance, trade and commerce.

The successful outcome of the negotiations between the British Government and the representatives of Southern Ireland is a second and enormously important step towards a rehabilitation of confidence throughout the English-speaking world. It means much to the whole British Empire as it removes the one great danger spot of friction and ill-will within the Empire. The solution of the Irish problem also means a betterment in the relations between the Empire and the people of the United States, and this is of the greatest importance to Canada and cannot fail to have a steady and beneficial effect in this Dominion.

A third event, bound to have a good effect on business conditions throughout the Dominion, is the holding of the general election in this country, when, for the first time in a decade, the people have had a free and untrammelled opportunity to pass judgment on questions of purely domestic policy. Until a verdict of the people was obtained there was bound to be a considerable degree of political unrest and business uncertainty. The people of Canada had become divided into several groups on economic questions and the impression prevailed generally that for a period of years it was going to be extremely difficult to carry on government in this country without resort to log-rolling and the making of dangerous compromises. This inevitably had an adverse effect on business and the people as a whole.

Quite apart, therefore, from any consideration as to which one of the three political parties has emerged victorious from the battle of the ballots, people are breathing a sigh of relief that one of the three has been given a sufficiently large following in the new Parliament to enable it to direct and carry on the business of government. This, in itself, is bound to have a good effect in removing the former uncertainty, and with the ending of the uncertainty there will follow a removal of much unrest. Depression will thus, to a very considerable degree, give place to confidence, and with increased confidence a renewal of activity will follow.

It remains now for each community and individual citizen to loyally accept the verdict of the majority, and for all to join hands and forces in a great co-operative effort to develop the great natural resources of this country to their maximum extent and thereby swing Canada into an era of prosperity, for all.

Canadians should enter into this great national work with stout hearts and a will to succeed. "It can be done." The divisions and feelings engendered in the past should now be buried with that dead past. What is required is a united Canada; a Canada with a forward look; a Canada imbued with optimism; alive with energy, thrilled with a national enthusiasm, and inspired with a true Canadian national spirit. It means that every Canadian must work and work hard, and it must be the business of government and of every community and individual to see that remunerative, constructive work is provided for all.

The dark clouds of adversity which have for so long hung over the world are lifting; there is a silver lining all around them, and that lining is brightening in extent and becoming brighter all the time. Through a union of all their forces, and the application of all their energy and skill to the development of their great wealth of natural resources, the Canadian people can easily place this Dominion very quickly in the front rank of the nations treading the paths of prosperity.

Know From Experience With an air of great daring the look-alike man walked into the large druggist's shop. "Er—I want a pair of gloves for my wife," he said shyly to the assistant. "Yes, sir," replied the girl blithely. "What color? Kid, suede, or blue thread, and how many buttons—two, four, six, eight—" "I don't care," interrupted the man boldly "so long as they don't button down the back."

Minard's Liniment for Distemper

Too Many Short Cuts

Efficiency Is Not Reached Until Details Are Mastered. Learn a trade and don't be satisfied until you have mastered the details and are able to prove you are a specialist at your job. One great trouble today is that short cuts are taken, in shortening apprenticeships and the result is often a "hobby" turned out instead of a workman. The same is often true of school and college life; anything to get in the prescribed time, and as a result it is often a poor stub that is made at the examinations. You can't grow an oak on mushroom principles—Hussell Post.

DIET NOT EVERYTHING IN KEEPING HEALTHY

Your table may be loaded with food digestible and wholesome, yet you don't get strong. What's the trouble? The liver is lazy, stomach is overloaded, the bowels are inactive. Relief is quickly supplied by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They make weak, sickly people strong and well because they keep the system clear of impurities. Those who regulate the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills don't have indigestion or constipated bowels; they feel revived and stimulated, their whole being, to shake off lethargy and tiredness, nothing compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which certainly bring good looks, good spirits, robust health, and all that ails you, or the Catarrhes of St. Montreal.

Timeless The Philistine might suppose this rain will do a lot of good. Pat.—Ye may well say that, but an hour of it now will do more good in five minutes than a month of it would do in a week at any other time.

WHEN NERVES ARE NEAR EXHAUSTION

A Tonic Should Be Taken To Enrich The Blood

When you become so exhausted after a day's work that you cannot sleep, or sleep little, or cannot get up in time to look after your health. Failure to act at once means a steady drain on your health reserves, which can result in but one thing—a nervous breakdown.

Do not wait for a breakdown. The treatment is simple enough if you do not let your condition become too far advanced. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring an effective tonic. As the nerves have to be nourished by the blood, the vital fluid must be built up. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in nervous troubles.

Mrs. Mary McAdam, Sidney Mines, N.S., is one of the many who have proved this tonic treatment. She says: "Last winter my health completely gave out. I was all run down and my nervous system in a condition that greatly alarmed me. I often had nervous headaches, and at times severe pains in the region of my heart. I felt as though I would never be well again. My husband got me a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before the second box was finished I began to improve, and under a further use of the pills I felt as well as ever. I would advise all weak and nervous women to give this medicine a trial."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Without courage there cannot be truth, and without truth there can be no victory.

Rich Embroidery Trims a Coat of Poiret Twill

By Marie Belmont

This lovely coat is developed in tan Poiret twill, combined with dark brown. The latter is chosen for the upper part of the coat as well as the under part of the sleeves. The skirt of the coat is lavishly adorned with dark brown embroidery, and this enriches the upper part of the sleeves. Beaver fur encircles the neck and also makes handsome cuffs. The wide belt is slipped through a buckle of unusual size, while a solitary button fastens the collar. The hat that accompanies this is of brown hatter's plush and is trimmed with flowers.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

These who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that Catarrh is a local disease, it is not a general one. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE cures it through the blood. It is a powerful purifier of the blood, and restores the system to its normal condition.

Relief From Asthma.

Who can describe the relief from suffering which follows the use of J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, choking air tubes? It has made asthmatic affliction a thing of the past for many. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

How "Humburg" Originated

The expression, "all Hamburg," has its origin during a Continental war, when many false reports were circulated in Hamburg. It became customary for anyone wishing to signify his disbelief in a statement to say, "That is Hamburg," and so the word "humburg" found its way into the language.

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a most valuable remedy. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, cure lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it is invaluable. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicine chests and those taken on a journey.

Not Looking For Work

A washerwoman applied to a gentleman for work, and he gave her a note to the manager of a certain club. It read as follows: "Dear Mr. X.—This woman wants washing."

Very shortly afterwards the answer came back: "Dear Sir—I dare say she does; but I don't fancy the job."

MRS. MARY WILHELM

"No matter what I should say about Tanlac, it wouldn't be half good enough," said Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, 716 Mint Way, South Side, Pittsburg, Pa. "I never dreamed it possible for a medicine to restore me to the splendid health I now enjoy. In fact, I had almost resigned myself to being an invalid, as I could see I was losing weight and strength every day, and no relief was in sight. For three years stomach trouble, headaches and nervousness made my life miserable."

"The first bottle of Tanlac acted almost like magic and it wasn't long until I was so well and strong that I could hardly realize I had ever known a sick day. I am like a different person in every way now, eating, sleeping, feeling and looking better than in years."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But It Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bothwell, Ont.—"I was weak and run down, had no appetite and was nervous. The nervousness was so bad that I took care of me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it, and now I am getting strong. I recommend your medicine to my friends, and they may use my testimonial."—Mrs. W. J. Brady, R. H. 2, Bothwell, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, beneficial influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (consultant), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

Alberta Legislature Will Meet in February

EDMONTON, Dec. 12.—Definite announcement was made by Premier Greenfield this morning that the first session of the next legislature will open during the first week in February. This is a somewhat later date than was originally anticipated the general opinion prevailing in government circles last week being that the session would get under way shortly after the middle of January. By the first week of February it is expected that the legislature programme will be fully whittled into shape and ready for submission to the house.

Neither the premier nor his ministers have given any definite forecast regarding the legislation to come before the house. It is known, however, that the appointment of a highways commission and measures calculated to give more stringent enforcement to the liquor laws of the province will be among the more important items presented. These questions have been under careful consideration for weeks past and it is expected that interesting announcement will be made shortly.

Mr. King Has Difficult Problems to Settle

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—Rooms at the Chateau Laurier will shortly be at a premium. Already applicants for positions in the King cabinet and wives are beginning to book accommodation, and next week will see a host of politicians at the grounds from all parts of the Dominion. For the past two days both leaders have been more or less in retirement. Mr. Meighen is worn out with the strenuous campaign he has put up during the last few weeks, and from natural disappointments at the result of the same while Mr. King is avoiding publicity as much as possible until he had time to consider his position and take counsel with his friends. The last meeting of the old cabinet will take place on Monday, and will be the last days thereafter Mr. King will be expected to form a government. He will, of course, do so, but it is increasingly apparent that it is not an easy task to bridge between the many candidates.

Many Difficult Corners.
It is not expected that the government will undertake to make any further appointments, although there is a vacancy in the Lieutenant-Governorship of Nova Scotia and some judicial vacancies in Ontario. Mr. King will have many difficult corners to turn in connection with his cabinet selection, not only territorial, but religious questions have all ways to be carefully regarded in selecting a cabinet.

Difficulties in Way.
There is no evidence that Mr. King is taking any of these questions seriously. His course will undoubtedly be guided to a considerable extent by the fact that he must secure re-election for himself and his Ontario Ministers. In his own case it will be easy, but there are difficulties in the way of choosing two Catholics, Murphy and Kennedy, in present Ontario.

No one need envy the Liberal leader his task after his cabinet is selected. His problems are legion.

including the ever present one of raising a revenue, dealing with unemployment, the tariff and railway questions. His only two followers from the west, Messrs. Hudson and Motherwell are low tariff men, and have openly advocated a heavy reduction of duties and agricultural implements. It would seem indeed, that the cessation of free trade agreements might very probably be made to the Western farmers to win their support and it is doubtful if it would meet with much opposition in the house.—Calgary Herald.

CHRISTMAS .. GIFTS ..

CHRISTMAS is now only a few days away and the annual big question of what to give your relatives and friends is a big problem to decide. DIDSBURY

Death of Mrs. A. R. Burkholder

The demise of the departed came to all of us with a great surprise. Mrs. Burkholder took sick on Sunday, and was apparently getting along fine, when a sudden change took place, and all available help could not keep her, she succumbed early Friday morning, December 2nd, 1921 at the Olds Hospital, at the age of 27 years. Deceased was born in the township of Carriek, in the county of Bruce, Ontario, on May 25th, 1894. She came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boettger to Alberta in 1906 who took up farming about 18 miles east of Olds in the vicinity of Mayton. Mrs. Burkholder was highly respected and had many beautiful traits of character. She was a consecrated Christian, of this her life among us gave strong evidence. She was one of the twelve children of the Boettger family. It was her lot to break the first link in that family circle by death. On March 15th, 1919 she was united in marriage to Mr. Alvin R. Burkholder, eldest son of Rev. and Mrs. I. Burkholder, of Didsbury. To this happy union were born two sons, Virgil, 16 months old, and Alvin Roy, five days old, who died one hour after his mother. The deepest sympathy of the church community is extended to the young husband and son Virgil, also to mother and father Boettger and the sisters and brothers who are Mrs. Wm. Klengenberg, Mrs. Anna Bowman, of Mayton, Mrs. B. Dempsey, of High River, Miss Roseetta at home; Aaron, Daniel, Millie, Samuel and David of Mayton, Edward of Didsbury and William, of Roundhill, who were all present at funeral on Monday afternoon, December 5th.

Six of the brothers acted as pallbearers, while the other one had charge of the hearse. The floral offerings were beautiful. The funeral was largely attended; among friends who attended from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Bowman, of Invermay, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kell-Bleisch, of Three Hills, Mrs. S. Dempsey, of High River, Mrs. Wm. Boettger, of Roundhill, Mr. and Mrs. L. Roth, of Roundhill, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dipple, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Bensch, Mr. and Mrs. Benno Remington, Mrs. Oreskovic, Mr. and Jacob Skantz, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Liesemer, the Rev. and Mrs. I. Burkholder and daughters Elsie, Gladys and Clara, Rev. and Mrs. J. P. Gault of Didsbury. The funeral took place from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boettger. The remains of the departed ones were taken to the Bethel church where the following ministers took part in the ceremony and services: Rev. D. C. Elze, Rev. J. P. Gault and Rev. J. E. Bender. The ceremony was made in the Cemetery of Bethel church, west of Mayton.

RUGBY

The Cheer-Up-Club witnessed one of its best attended meetings on Wednesday last, almost thirty men, here being present.

A few of the budding pugilists exhibited a very good sample of clean scientific boxing to the applause of a very enthusiastic audience.

The meeting on Wednesday December 21st is abandoned in favor of the Christmas concert at Elbow. Can't be helped.

The Box Social was very successful but it is too bad that the Turkey Shoot committee had to put up the "dough". When do you eat Ace and Pat.

Roses and Capies were in great abundance. Mains the word.

Two dialogues entitled "The Wolf, on's Mistake" and "The Grapes Warning" were mingled in a most complimentary manner.

Some class to the quartette, but they had better get an elevator.

"That sounds like it," said Gardner, with enthusiasm. "Now the whole thing's simple as A, B, C, and not half as dangerous as running a traction engine or breaking a broncho. It all rests on getting him out here with the money, and that's where you come in. I don't mind telling you if it wasn't for the help you can give there I'd handle the job myself, and have dividing the profits."

"Yes, that's the point, all right," said Riley, somewhat dubiously. "How've you got it?"

"Think, Riley," said Gardner, puffing contentedly at a fresh cigar. "Think hard."

Riley wrinkled his forehead and gazed absently at the front hub, but the inspiration would not come. "Give it up," he said at last. "You'll have to plan it, and I'll carry it out."

"That's what comes of hard work, Hiram! You lose all your imagination. Right now you haven't any more imagination than a cabbage."

"I could suggest a dozen schemes to suit the purpose if I had to, but one will do. Suppose this—"

"These mountains up here are full of coal—more coal than can be burnt in a million years. It's a kind of road in, but once you get there you'll see it lying in seams, ten, fifteen, twenty feet thick, and stretching right through the rocks as far as you like to follow it. That coal's going to make a bunch of millionaires some day, but not until you can get at it with some thing bigger than a cayuse. But railroads come fast in this country, and there's no saying how soon a man might cash in if he invested just now."

"You ain't got it? Well, till a rail road comes, are you? Well, like enough he'd beat by that time."

"Hiram, I told you you had no imagination. Wait a moment. Now, suppose that some strange eccentric chap owns one of these coal limits. He lives up in the mountains, a kind of hermit, but we fall in with him and offer him forty thousand dollars for his limit, worth, say, half a million, or more if you feel like it. He says, 'All right, but mind I want the money in bills, and you'll have to bring it out to me here.' Now can you think of anything?"

"Harris don't know nothing about coal," protested Riley. "He wouldn't bite at anything like that."

"Your faith has been neglected as

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O.,
Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for pain, which mostly went to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerve would twitch all my whole body would seem to jerk right up at 1 a.m. in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I believe after taking twenty boxes I did myself almost normal again. I also have a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

well as your imagination. You've got to paint it to him so's to get interest. That's all. Our business is to get Harris, with the money in his wallet, started up into these mountains. He's mighty lonely up there, with timber wolves, grizzly bears, precipitous snow slides and trails that lead to nowhere, and if it weren't a unfortunate—well, he's unfortunate."

The plan gradually penetrated Riley's slow working mind. At first it numbed him a little, and his face wore a strange colour as he turned to his companion, and said, in a low voice, "Ain't it right?"

"They won't. They're all right for cleaning up a rough house, but don't cut any figure in fine art work like we'll put over. I tell you, Riley, it's absolutely safe. Of course, ordinary precautions must be taken, same as you would with a vicious horse or any other risk you might run. The main thing is to see that he has the money in bills; anything else would be risky and lead to trouble. Then this fellow that's supposed to own the mine must be kept in the background. We—"

"But who does own the mine?" Gardner made a gesture of exasperation. "You don't get me. Hiram, nobody owns the mine. That's all it's a myth—a fairy tale manufactured because we need it. But Harris ain't a fool. He won't cut no fat, at any rate, until it's too late. Then if any more does leak out, suspicion will be directed toward some mysterious mine-owner, and the police will be wearing out shoe-leather hunting the cracks in the foothills while you and I are taking in the sights of Honolulu or South America. We'll quietly make an appointment for Harris to meet the mine-owner somewhere up in the hills. We'll direct him where to go, and leave it at that. Of course, we won't go with him; we'll have other business about that time."

Riley looked at Gardner with frank admiration. It seemed so simple now, and in his growing enthusiasm he felt that he would have like him difficult in persuading Harris to raise all the cash possible and bring it with him. And it seemed so safe. As Gardner said, the mountains were full of danger, and if something should happen to Harris—well, he would be unfortunate; but lots of other people had been unfortunate, too.

Gardner turned his team down a side road, forded the river, climbed a steep, slippery bank, and drew up beside a cluster of ranch buildings clustered with cotton-woods and spruces. The old, long log-house, reminiscent of the days when the West was a land and a law unto itself, might have suited the heart of poet or artist; the hard-boiled wall of the normal lined still of the brave days of the open range and cattle beyond the counting.

As the team, in their long, steady swing up their long, rocky country, swung up before him, an alert young fellow came quickly out and bowed himself with the umbrellas.

"Guess you ought to know our visitor, Jim, shouldn't you?" said Gardner. "Another Montebian chasing the free land."

Travers at once recognized Riley, and extended his hand. "Well, Mr. Riley, we weren't looking for you here, although I suppose I shouldn't be surprised for there was some talk of your coming West before I left Plainville. What do you think of it? And did you see the mountains this morning? Worth the trip themselves, aren't they?"

"Look pretty good, all right, Jim," said Riley, with an attempt at affability. "But I reckon you wouldn't grow much wheat on 'em, and scenery's not very filling." How you make it do you?

"Nothing but luck since I landed," said Jim. "Got a homestead and a good job right away. You must let me take you out to my farm before you go back. How's everybody?"

"Harris well, I hope," said Riley. "Guess they're well enough, but gettin' kind of scattered for a family group. Deah! Ah! when you did—"

The smile did not depart from Travers' face, but if Riley had known him as well as he should he would have seen the sudden wondering light in the eye. But the young man answered quietly, "I saw Deah! the day I left Plainville, and I understood she was going West on a visit. She ain't back yet."

"Innocent, don't you?" said Riley, in a manner intended to be playful. "It's all right; I don't blame you. Deah! a good girl, if a bit little fishin' and a few years' roughin' it on the homestead'll take that out of her."

But Jim had dropped the harness and stood squarely facing Riley. The smile still lingered on his lips, but his heavy-lidded eyes were such that he had been playing with fire. Riley was much the larger man of the two, but he was to one to court combat, unless the odds were overwhelmingly in his favour. He carried a scar across his eye as a constant reminder of his folly in having once before invited trouble from a younger man.

"What do you mean?" demanded Travers. "Put 'R in English."

But Gardner interposed. "Don't be too sensitive, Jim," he said. "Riley has forgotten his parlor manners, but he doesn't mean any harm. You weren't insisting anything, were you, Hiram?"

"Course not," said Riley, glad of an opportunity to get out of the difficulty without a direct apology. "No offense intended, Jim. Deah! has all right, and you're all right, and that's what I always said."

Travers was not in the least desecrated to Riley's skepticism, but he realized that the man was the guest of his employer, and he decided not

To press the point, Gardner and Riley went to the house, and Jim presently added his own horse and rode out on the prairie. He had already lunched, and it was Gardner's custom to cook for himself when at home.

Inside, the two men were soon seated at a meal with Gardner hastily but deftly prepared. They ate from plates of white enameled ware, on a board table covered with oilcloth, but the food was appetizing, and the manner of serving it much more to Riley's liking than that to which he had been subjected for some days. The meat was fresh and tasty, and the bread and butter were all that could be desired, and the strong hot tea, without milk but thick with sugar, completed a meal that was in every way satisfactory. Riley's eyes, when not on his plate, were busy taking in the surroundings. The log walls were hung with memorables, some of earlier days and some of other lands, and throughout the big room was a strange mixture of elegance and plainness. On one end were rows of shelves, with more books than Riley had ever seen, and above stood a small piece of statuary worth the price of many bushels of wheat.

Gardner noted the interest of his guest, and smiled quietly to himself. He supposed that Riley had the usual notion of a homestead, and knew that here he was on the outermost rim of the finer civilization of even the Middle West. But he knew also that this plain log building contained furnishings and decorations altogether beyond anything that Riley had ever seen or heard of—things, indeed, so far removed from the life of the hard-working farmer that they might have come from another world than his own. When the meal was finished Gardner swept the soiled dishes into a big galvanized iron tub, threw away attention from Jim at a convenient season, and invited Riley to look about the house.

They entered another room, immediately to the north of the large apartment which served all general householding purposes. The floor was of plain boards, smoothed with the rich polish of many years, and an old oak lay the skin of a great bear. An old-fashioned carved table, of some size, and three leather chairs, were the principle furniture. Two swords hung diagonally across the far wall, and above them was an old flag, discoloured with sun and rain. Ancient firebricks decorated the walls, and old

RHEUMATISM?

Health is the Most Valuable Asset You Have. You cannot Afford to Neglect It.

Crofton, B. C.—"I was troubled for years with inflammatory rheumatism and rheumatic fever. I tried several cures for rheumatism, but did not receive any benefit from any of them. I had been in the hospital for months, being unable to walk. A friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Ankle Tablets."

After taking the first bottle I began to improve, and after taking six bottles I had no more rheumatism. I think Dr. Pierce's Ankle is the most wonderful medicine that any one can take for rheumatism. I have recommended these tablets to several of my friends and they, too, have all been benefited by them. Melville Collinson.

People are realizing that the kidneys, just as do the lungs, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly removing the poisons from the blood. Urine acids back up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on these organs any one would do well to get Dr. Pierce's Ankle Tablets which are to be had nowadays at almost any drug store or send to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for trial package and write for free, confidential medical advice.

Boring Power Of Ants

Engineer Found They Had Eaten Through Lead Cable

An extraordinary instance of the boring power of white ants comes from New South Wales.

An engineer who was repairing a buried lead-covered telephone cable found that the ants had eaten their way inside. They had first bored through an outer covering of timber, which had been purposely riddled in arsenic, then through a layer of soft paraffin, and finally through the lead covering itself.

In spite of their difficult journey and their means of arsenic and paraffin, the ants were full of life when they were discovered.

HEALTHY CHILDREN ARE HAPPY CHILDREN

The well child is always a happy child—it is a baby's nature to be happy and contented. Mothers, if your little ones are cross and peevish and cry a great deal they are not well—they are in need of medicine—something that will set their bowels and stomach in order, for nine-tenths of all childhood ailments arise from a disordered state of the bowels and stomach. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus drive out constipation, colic, indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make the baby healthy and happy. Concerning them, Mrs. Albert Hamel, Pierrefille, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. They relieved my little girl from constipation when nothing else would, and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Hundred Dollars Worth For Thirty-Five Cents

When you are awakened from a sound sleep by cramps, when without a woman's warning pain springs upon you, it's when you would readily pay a hundred dollars for the quick relief you could secure from a thirty-five cent bottle of trusty old Nervine. Nothing like Nervine to relieve cramps, stomach gas, diarrhoea, and kindred ills. Nothing better for Neuralgia, cold in the chest, and sore throat. The price of Nervine is thirty-five cents, no more, no less, in all stores where medicines are sold.

Most of the shadows of this life are caused by standing in our own sunshine.

No one need endure the agony of cramps with Huxley's Corn Remover at hand to remove them.

A Little Bit of Time

Measuring a Thousandth Part of a Second

What can happen in the thousandth part of a second?

This question comes to the mind when we hear of the wonderful instrument in use at the Royal Observatory at Edinburgh, Scotland, which Professor Sampson recently described at the British Association meeting.

A wireless signal will travel 156 miles in a thousandth of a second; a ray of light will do the same; an express train travelling 60 miles an hour will cover just under one inch in the time.

It is for registering with great precision the time of any signal that this wonderful instrument has been made.

It is an electric detector and records the movements of a tiny spot of light on a moving photographic film. These very minute measurements are becoming more important every day, as it is only by studying the infinitely little that our knowledge of the big things can be advanced.

As a vermifuge an effective preparation is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

Japan is the principal buyer of British Columbia lead and spelter, as well as British Columbia's second largest buyer of copper and pulp.

An Oil that is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

Flowers Which are Injurious

Poppies have a very injurious effect upon other flowers placed in the same vase, which seems to react upon themselves, as they soon fade and die under such conditions. The same applies to sweet peas, which should always be placed by themselves.

Workmen in turpentine factories never have rheumatism.

AROUND THE TOWN

The Hub Grocery will be open every evening from now until

Mr. Ed. Weber was a business visitor in Calgary on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Liesemer and daughter, Evelyn, spent the week end in Calgary.

The Messrs. J. and N. Johnson, of Calgary, were over the week end.

Messrs. W. Mueller and F. Osmond were business visitors in Calgary last week end.

Mrs. E. E. Freeman and son Roland were visitors in Calgary on Saturday.

Miss Winde Stader, accompanied by her brother Cecil, paid a visit on Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Reid, of Calgary, on Saturday.

The very warm weather we have been enjoying has practically halted curling, and the ice for the skating rink can not be got ahead with at all.

Watch for the appearance of the D. H. S. annual magazine, the "Orenda". This magazine is a great improvement over the last year's "Hustler" and contains articles and anecdotes by the students and citizens of the town. For a few hours enjoyable reading, purchase an Orenda and learn about the activities and progress in the High School.

Aerial traffic in Didsbury will now be much safer since the town have put up their directions. To the casual everyday person these signs will probably not be seen but if you are an aviator or start your you might notice some little signs high up on the electric light poles with a warning "Keep to the Right". It was very thoughtful of the council to adopt these measures, but why not start with a silent policeman on the ground for the guidance of those on the ground.

MISTAKE IN CAMPBELL AND ANDERSONS AD LAST WEEK

An unfortunate error occurred in the Campbell and Anderson's ad last week for which the Pioneer is to blame. In the introduction to this ad, it was stated that they handled only "high priced goods," which should have read "high grade goods". We hope our many readers will note this correction and bear in mind that Campbell and Anderson handle only high grade goods at right prices.—Editor.
